The gravity model of international trade in international economics is a model that, in its traditional form, predicts bilateral trade flows based on the economic sizes (often using GDP measurements) and distance between two units.. The model was first introduced in economics world by Walter Isard in 1954. The basic model for trade between two countries (i and j) takes the form of Overview. An economic impact analysis attempts to measure or estimate the change in economic activity in a specified region, caused by a specific business, organization, policy, program, project, activity, or other economic event. The study region can be a neighborhood, town, city, county, statistical area, state, country, continent, or the entire globe.
